Clinical Neuroimmunology

Aaron Boster, MD, is a board-certified clinical neuroimmunologist specializing in multiple sclerosis (MS).

As a neuroimmunologist, Dr. Boster provides diagnosis and treatment for all types of MS as well as a wide range of neuroimmunological conditions. These include neuromyelitis optica (NMO), neurosarcoidosis, central nervous system vasculitis, NMDA receptor encephalitis, transverse myelitis, optic neuritis, stiff-person syndrome and more. He also provides medical management of refractory severe spasticity with expertise in all treatment modalities including intrathecal baclofen.

Dr. Boster knew he wanted to become an MS specialist since he was 12 years old when his uncle was diagnosed with the disease. This personal connection and experience inspired him to treat MS patients and their families differently. His relentless focus on not just patients, but also their families, means they receive individualized and longitudinal care.

He received his undergraduate degree from Oberlin College in Oberlin, Ohio and his medical degree from the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine in Cincinnati, Ohio. Dr. Boster completed his internship and neurology residency through the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor, Michigan. He continued his training at Wayne State University in Detroit, Michigan, where he completed a fellowship focused on clinical neuroimmunology and multiple sclerosis.

Dr. Boster is board certified by the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology and is a member of the American Academy of Neurology.

When he is not treating patients, Dr. Boster enjoys spending time with his wife and two children, weightlifting and playing chess. A self-proclaimed "foodie", he also likes trying new foods.

To schedule an appointment with Dr. Boster, call (614) 533.5500. His office is located at Chatham Lane.
